Although the date of the following information is old and may be known, it is being disseminated for whatever value it may have.

1. A radio transmitter and airfield were under construction in 1951 on the Roman-Bacau highway, opposite and approximately 500 meters from the Galbeni railroad station (Roman district).
2. By the end of 1951 twelve pylons had been built on reinforced concrete bases to a height of three meters. One hundred to 150 trucks were hauling dirt and building materials to the site.
